Cuticura
Miracles of Healing Unparalleled in Medical History.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the great natural blood purifier, absorbent, renovator and vitalizer, has shown its grand curative power in scrofula, white swellings, ulcers, erysipelas, swelled neck, scrofulous inflammations, mercurial affections, old sores, eruptions of the skin, sore eyes and scalp affections, with dry, thin and falling hair; and when the CUTICURA, a Medicinal Jelly, and the CUTICURA SOAP, prepared from it, are applied to external symptoms, the cures affected by the CUTICURA REMEDIES are marvellous.

SCROFULA.
SCROFULA.—Hon. William Taylor, Boston, State Senator of Massachusetts, permanently cured of a humor of the face and scalp that had been treated unsuccessfully for twelve years by many of Boston's best physicians and most noted specialists, as well as European authorities. He says: "I have been so elated with my successful use of the Cuticura Remedies that I have stopped men in the streets to tell them of my case."

RUNNING SORES.
RUNNING SORES.—Henry Landecker, Dover, N. H., certifies that Aug. 21, 1877, he broke his leg. The bone was set by a physician. Upon removing the splints sores broke out from the knee to the heel. Doctors called them varicose veins, and ordered rubber stockings. Paid $25 for stockings, without any signs of cure. Bought CUTICURA REMEDIES, and was rapidly and permanently cured. Certified to by Lothrops & Pinkham, Druggists, Dover, N. H.

SALT RHEUM.
SALT RHEUM.—Geo. F. Owen, Dealer in Pianos, Grand Rapids, Mich., was troubled for nine years with Salt Rheum. Tried every medicine known to the trade, and was attended by many physicians with only temporary relief. Cured by CUTICURA REMEDIES.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are prepared by WEEKS & POTTER, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington St., Boston, and are for sale by all Druggists. Price of CUTICURA, a Medicinal Jelly, small boxes, 50 cents, large boxes, $1. CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new Blood Purifier, $1 per bottle. CUTICURA MEDICINAL TOILET SOAP, 25 cents. CUTICURA MEDICINAL SHAVING SOAP, 15 cents, in bars for Barbers and large consumers, 50 cents.
All mailed free on receipt of price.

The old Family Physician at Fault--Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—asserting that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific FAVORITE REMEDY to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try Favorite Remedy. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York. jan6 d&w1m

UNITED STATES PENSIONERS.

Commissioner Bentley's Advice to Claimants.

Uselessness of Agents and Lawyers.

[Special Cor. N. Y. Herald.]

HOW PENSIONS ARE AND MAY BE OBTAINED—FRAUDS PRACTISED ON CLAIMANTS BY PENSION AGENTS—AN UTTERLY USELESS ASSISTANT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, 1881. The pension business becomes interesting, now that claims for arrears average $1,000 or $1,200 to the man, and not a few receive $5,000, $7,000 and even $8,000 in a lump sum. Since the Arrears bill became a law the business of pension claim agents has grown to vast dimensions here. There are claim agents in this business who employ from fifty to a hundred clerks and some even more. Pensioners should understand that the money they pay to these claim agents is entirely wasted, as they cannot and do not serve them in any important particular. The information given by the Commissioner of Pensions in the following conversation held with him by your correspondent to-day should be known to every person in the country who has a claim for a pension. Your correspondent asked Commissioner Bentley

"Is it necessary that a soldier or other person entitled to a pension should hire an attorney in Washington to present the case?"

"It is not necessary at all," was the reply. "He can get all the advice and counsel at home from any lawyer who would draw a deed, or any magistrate will prepare his papers better than they are prepared here."

"What service can a lawyer or pension claim agent here do in the matter, then?"

"Legitimately he can do nothing at all, except to act as a clerk or go between, to do what the pensioner and the Pension office can do just as well directly."

"When a claim is sent directly to your office, and not through a claim agent here, does it get the same attention it would if an agent here had presented it?"

"Certainly, and just as promptly. We send the answer directly to the claimant, instead of to the agent, and he gets the full explanation of what may be lacking in his papers, instead of an abstract, such as the claim agent probably sends him."

"How, then, does a pension claim agent here save either money or time to the applicant?"

"In no way at all, because what is wanting in his papers he has to get done at home in any case where he is known and where any magistrate will do for him what is necessary in drawing up papers for less money than is charged by the claim agents here."

ADVICE TO CLAIMANTS.

"Your advice to persons claiming a pension is, therefore, to engage no pension or claim agents at all, but to apply directly to the Pension Office and get their papers drawn up at home?"

"Yes; the Pension Office furnishes blanks for the original application, with all necessary instructions for drawing up the papers. It prints also and furnishes free to applicants a book containing all the pension laws and all the forms and instructions as to what evidence is necessary in each class of cases."

"How, then, do the pension claim agents here, who seem to do an enormous business, persuade people to deal with them?"

WHAT THE AGENTS DO.

"They advertise and publish papers and produce the belief among poor and ill-informed persons that it is difficult to get a claim properly considered without the intervention of a lawyer, and also that they possess some means of influencing the Pension Bureau to examine or to hasten the disposition of the cases they have in hand. All this is false. Pensioners and persons making claims may rest assured that these claim agents have not such special or any other influence. These claim agents know this so well themselves that they constantly ask their poor clients to write to their member of Congress to ascertain the condition of the case. The bureau in hundreds, and indeed thousands of instances, has discovered by correspondence sent it by claimants that the claim agent to whom the case had been intrusted has written letters pretending to have diligently pushed the case, when in fact nothing had been done except to put the papers on file. All this in order to persuade the poor claimants to pay money in advance for services which had not been rendered, and which, as I have said, are not necessary in any case. These claim agents have thus collected enormous sums of money in advance from poor people, who have been misled by their advertisements. The half dozen or more, perhaps ten, men most largely engaged in this business of claim agents in this city and in some other large cities, have filed probably three out of every five cases coming up under the new law, and they have collected in advance for this totally unnecessary work, I should think, not less than $150,000 from poor men and women. They pretend, in their letters to claimants, that under the new law claimants are required to pay fees in advance. This is absolutely false and fraudulent. The law, which was intended not to encourage but to limit the extortions of pension claim agents, says that such an agent shall not be allowed to charge more than $10, and this they represent in letters I now show you to be a requirement that the claimant shall pay in advance."

UNNECESSARY TO SUCCESS.

"This whole claim agent business is, therefore, unnecessary to the success of honest claimants?"

"Entirely. A claimant can and will in all cases get his claim examined and decided upon and his pension, if one is due him, sent him precisely as well and just as quickly if he transacts his business himself directly with the department, and he will save money by doing so. The whole business has been so carefully simplified by the Pension Bureau, that there is no mystery at all about it requiring the intervention of an agent here or at any other place. Congress and the Pension Bureau have cooperated to this end, because it would be great injustice to poor soldiers or their heirs to oblige them to engage lawyers to get their claims allowed. The whole system of claim agents here is an outrage upon the Treasury and on the country, and on honest pensioners as well. They are constantly searching for some excuse to make a claim against the government because they divide the proceeds if they can succeed."

CLAIMS PENDING.

"How many claims are now pending in your office?"

"Altogether about three hundred thousand, of which 280,000 are original. They are necessarily taken up in their turn, and no claim agent's influence or persistence can afford any claim in the least. During the last fiscal year there were allowed 14,631 original claims, which is a greater number than in any previous year since 1871. We shall do better somewhat this year."

"Could no way be devised to get through quicker?"

"Yes, decidedly. If Congress will adopt the recommendations of the Secretary of the Interior, which was made by Secretary Chandler as well as by Secretary Schurz, and which are now embodied in Senate bill No. 496, the meritorious claims now pending may be settled in four or five years at the outside, provided the necessary means are authorized to obtain the required records from the War Department. Otherwise, and under the present system, from ten to twelve years at least will be required to dispose of the business now on hand, to say nothing of new claims coming in."

It appears from this plain statement of the Commissioner of Pensions that persons claiming pensions do not help themselves in the least by putting their cases in the hands of claim agents, and that the money claimants or pensioners pay to such agents is spent needlessly and for no service which requires to be done. The Pension laws and the regulations of the Pension Bureau are such that no claimant needs the intervention of another person, but all do best to apply direct to the bureau, and it should be understood that no pension claim agent has the least power or influence in the bureau to hasten the disposition or settlement of any claim or to procure a favorable decision.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

Lake Auburn is two feet lower than when winter set in.

Cotton is coming into Lewiston at the rate of forty cars a day.

Rufus Corson, of South Lewiston, set a cion in a green gage plum tree last season, that made a growth of twenty-one feet last season.

Private gas works are being put into A. Cushman & Co.'s shoe factory, in Auburn. Several such machines have been put in in Auburn, the past year.

Auburn people should be especially careful about fires, at present. The Chief Engineer states that the reservoir contains little or no water, and the snow is so deep that the fire department would be delayed in reaching a burning building, so that there would be unusual danger by a conflagration. Both cities are now congratulating themselves on their freedom from fires this winter, and are hoping the fire-fiend will continue to keep out of sight.

The Lewiston Journal says: The lawyers and court officers expect the term of the Supreme Court, commencing at Auburn, Tuesday, Jan. 18, will be a long one, and will last four or five weeks at the least. There are 330 entries on the continued civil docket. Capt. I. S. Faunce, of this city, is foreman of the Grand Jury. The Traverse Jurors have been returned from all towns in the county but one. There is a prospect that there may be several important trials. N. W. Farwell, Esq., has brought suit against P. McGillicuddy, Esq., for the sum of $6,000, for damages caused by the fire on Mr. Farwell's peat land, last fall, and which the plaintiff alleges, originated on the land of the defendant. The case is in order for trial. One of the old "Goodenough cases," which have been on the docket for many years, and familiar to all attorneys, will probably be tried. The test case went to the High Court on exceptions in 1877. The exceptions were sustained and a new trial granted, but the case has been slumbering quietly since. It is uncertain whether the Carville case will come to trial, or not. One side is making strong efforts for a change of venue, and the other side wants a trial.

Cumberland.

E. K. Whitney, of Harrison, has contracted to sell his Jersey butter in New York, at 40 cents per pound. He is making about 50 lbs. per week. His product during the best part of the summer is upwards of 125 pounds per week.

C. R. Milliken, of the firm of Deering, Milliken & Co., of Portland, is reported as having bought the assets of Harwood, who recently failed in Minneapolis, Minn., at the invoice price, one-third off. This is said to realize $340,000 for creditors.

Schooner Edith, from Portland, was seized at Halifax, by the custom authorities for breach of the revenue laws, on her arrival at Latour, where she remains pending instructions from Ottawa.

Thursday night, Mr. Samuel Fernald, in attempting to go down the cellar stairs at the Perry House, Portland, stumbled over a cat, and went to the bottom, breaking two ribs.

The committee appointed by the Cumberland bar association, to investigate the charges against Charles W. Wells, Esq., reported Friday afternoon, in favor of his expulsion from the bar. They find that Wells conspired with Mrs. Hattie Baker, insolvent, to defraud her creditors. Mr. Wells received a non negotiable note from one Fred Farrow of Boston. In the insolvency court he testified that it was negotiable and afterwards procured a negotiable note and tried to pass it off for the original one. Judge Virgin, Saturday, ordered Mr. Wells to appear on the 15th of February and show cause why he should not be debarred from practicing in the county.

Saturday, Marshal Bridges, of Portland, arrested William Johnson, for breaking his wife's arm. The woman is 60 years old.

The schooner, Alwilda Morse, lying at Burnham's wharf, Portland, was broken into the other night, and two single barrelled shot guns stolen by some unknown parties. One was very heavy calibre and cost $60.

The railroad question, is the all-absorbing subject before Naples' people, at this time. Thursday a mass meeting was held for the purpose of considering the matter. Speeches were made and a committee appointed to investigate the matter.

The Telephone says that business is good this winter in the paper mills, at Cumberland Mills, Westbrook, but considerable inconvenience has been experienced in consequence of the scarcity of water. Recently, however, two large double steam engines, as well as three smaller ones, have been set up, and the producing capacity has been increased, though not to its usual extent. A new enamelling machine is in process of construction, which, when completed, will make four in use in the mills. ——A new thread mill is proposed at Saccarappa.

Franklin.

The Phonograph says that Mr. Stanley has been at Rangeley the past week looking after the fish-hatching business. He reports the spawn as being in excellent condition. The white-fish, which are being introduced here for the first time, are from Lake Michigan. They are a very delicate fish, weighing from two to three pounds, and are caught in deep water, with bait, only. They are very fine eating and will be of much benefit to our waters.——It is understood the law on deer, moose and caribou, will be strictly enforced this winter, and any and all parties violating it will be brought to summary punishment.

Kennebec.

We regret to learn that Prof. Stone's new map of the "Horsebacks of Maine" in the preparation of which he has spent about two months of hard labor, was completely destroyed by smoke and water during the recent conflagration in the Laboratory of Bearce Hall, Kent's Hill.

Rich commenced filling his ice houses in Farmingdale, Monday week, and has been filling it in pretty lively all the past week. This late snow storm rather put an end to work in the ice houses.

President Robins, of Colby University, is contemplating a foreign trip.

The Kennebec Journal says: Representative Ware, of Athens, is to bring his $5,000 span of trotters—"Ike" and "Tom Patchen"—to town this week. It will create quite an excitement among the admirers of blooded horses, to see this pair of thorough-breds kick up the snow on the Hallowell road.

Mrs. Martha Stoddard died in Gardiner, Saturday morning, at 2 o'clock, at the residence of her son, J. L. Stoddard, Esq., Deputy Collector of U. S. Internal Revenue, aged 76 years.

Rev. Mr. Park greatly surprised and grieved his parishioners Sunday, by sending in his resignation, which was read by Rev. Mr. White, of Hallowell, who occupied the pulpit on that day. Mr. Park has been the pastor of the Congregationalist society in Gardiner, for many years, and is greatly endeared to his immediate church and the community at large. No doubt great efforts will be made to induce him to reconsider his resignation. The only reason given was that a new pastor might be for the good of the society.

Lincoln.

John Murray, a resident of Boothbay, has a somewhat remarkable history. He is 79 years old, never was sick a day in his life, never drank a drop of liquor nor used any tobacco. He is now in the enjoyment of excellent health, having the appearance of a man not over 60 years of age, and a stranger seeing him walking on the road would not take him to be over 40. He carries on his farm with little help, having got about all his hay last summer. He makes no use of spectacles. He is a pensioner for services rendered his country in the war of 1812.

Edwin Reed, of Waldoboro, who died at the Insane Hospital recently, had been an inmate of the institution for 21 years. He was a brother of Hon. Isaac Reed of Waldoboro, and before his intellect became shattered was a young man of great promise. He entered Bowdoin College in 1830, being but 15 years old at the time, and was graduated from Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. He read law with his father, Col. Isaac G. Reed, and practiced law in Waldoboro until 1859, when the condition of his mind became such that it was necessary to remove him to the asylum where he has been a peaceable inmate more than twenty years.

Somerset.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sallaberry, of North New Portland, who was rapidly sinking from an ovarian tumor, decided to have an operation for its removal, and sent for a physicians to perform the operation. After a careful examination of the case last Saturday, the doctor informed the patient and her friends that the prospect of rallying from the operation was so slight he proposed not to operate; but Mrs. Sallaberry knowing she could live but a short time as she was, insisted upon having the tumor removed. At two o'clock in the afternoon, an anaesthetic was administered, and the doctor, assisted by the local physicians, removed a tumor weighing sixteen pounds. The patient rallied well from the effects of the ether, but after a few hours began to sink and died, without any pain after the operation, between seven and eight o'clock.

York.

The Press says that Geo. Mills, of So. Waterboro, narrowly escaped a severe accident, last Friday forenoon. While at work on the roof of Hobbs' new mill, he slipped and fell to the staging at the eaves turning a somersault, he fell ten feet to the stone dam, and then down another ten feet when he reached terra firma. He was badly bruised, but no bones were broken.

A WONDERFUL CLOCK. Mr. Felix Meier, of Detroit, Michigan, after nearly ten years of patient labor, has produced a clock, which, not excepting that of Strasbourg, is the most wonderful clock of the world. It is 18 feet high, 8 feet wide, 5 feet deep, and weighs 4,000 pounds. The framework is of black walnut and elegantly carved. Washington sits beneath the marble dome with a colored servant on either side, guarding the doors. On the four corners of the face of the clock are four figures, emblematic of the different stages of human life, two are females, one holding an infant, the other with a child, the third is a man of middle age, while the fourth is a figure of an old gray-bearded man. All of these figures have bells, each with a tone in keeping with the age represented. The infant strikes its sweet toned bell at the first quarter hour, the larger bell of the youth rings out at the end of the half hour, followed by the strong resonant tone of the bell of middle age at the third quarter, and the hour closing with the mournful bell of the aged man. Death, represented by a carved skeleton, just above the clock face, then strikes the hour, at the same time a carved cupid pops out on either side, with wings to indicate that time flies. This is followed by sweet music, when Washington rising from his chair, presents the Declaration of Independence, and a door on the right is opened by the servant, and each of the ex Presidents, donned in the costume of his time (including President Hayes), files before the "Father of his country," face him, and raise their hands, walk across the platform and pass out of sight, at a door which is afterwards closed by the second servant. Washington takes his seat, and all is quiet again save the heavy tick of the wonderful time-keeper. Though such a clock shows a great deal of ingenuity, it is of little practical value.

It should never be forgotten that rich cattle food makes rich manure, and rich manure heavy crops, while on the other hand poor feed means lean cattle, poor manure and inferior crops.

A COMMUNIST GOVERNOR!

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

Unless Governor Plaisted of Maine put into his Inaugural Address all the foolishness that was in him, he was drawing upon a rich and varied store. Countless volumes of American State papers might be searched without revealing in the aggregate as many nuggets of folly as are packed away in this address as thickly as plums in a Christmas pudding. It is sincerely to be hoped the stock has been exhausted, but there is room for harrowing doubts. There is no symptom of a letdown at the end, but, on the contrary, evidence of expanding wealth.

"Our dangers are all from within," he says; and he does not like the idea of a "gathering of military forces" at Washington to witness the inauguration. The transfer of power to the lawfully elected successors of public offices is the period of greatest peril. The Governor disapproves entirely of the use of force in any event, referring to "recent events in our own State." So, too, he thinks the provision allowing an appeal to the Supreme Court for its opinion is "as wrong in principle as "dangerous in practice." And while the Governor and Council may err or act corruptly in canvassing the votes for Senators and Representatives, and while the Legislature may err wilfully or ignorantly in ascertaining who has been chosen as Governor, yet the remedy is certain. Here it is: "Wait for the righteous and certain "vengeance of the ballot-box; and as to "the guilty perpetrators of the fraud—"traitors to a public trust—let their punishment be as swift as was his of old "who laid his hand upon the Ark of the "Covenant." Bless his innocent heart! Men who accept office secured by fraud will not be incapable of trying it on again for their own further benefit. And let us see,—which of the participaters in the great count-out have the Fusionists tried to punish at all?

What we have quoted is wisdom itself compared with what follows. The law permitting any rate for money is referred to as one in the interest of usurers, but Governor Plaisted ought to be aware that under a New York law limiting the rate of interest to six per cent. the Wall street money lenders have charged and received within three months interest at the rate of more than one hundred per cent. per annum. He charges upon this law the disasters that have been met by the Maine savings banks, which is not only absurd in itself, but is contradicted by the fact that similar evils have befallen banks in States where there are laws against high rates. But we are even now only approaching the climax of folly. Debt and taxation, we are told, are undermining our free institutions. The proposition to refund the maturing national debt is condemned. "These bonds should be paid." The Governor is opposed to "that other proposition to re"tire and destroy the $346,000,000 of legal "tender notes,—burn them, so that out of "their ashes may arise a like amount of in"terest-bearing bonds to further tax the "labor and industry of the country." With statesmanlike sagacity he asks:

"Would it not be more in accordance with the "interest of the toiling masses in this country, to "require the national banks to retire their cur"rency, some over three hundred millions, and "replace it with United States legal tenders, and "thereby pay off a like amount of United States "bonds, burn them up and thus relieve the people "of so much burden of interest, and above all, "from the baneful influence of these bonds upon "the currency and business of the country?"

This from a man chosen as Governor of a New England State!

More remains yet. Let us give briefly a few of his ideas. If the National banks win the whole field of circulation we shall have a never-ending national debt. "Safe investment of idle capital," such as are afforded by the national debt, "are destruc"tive not only of the industries but of the "morals of the people." They tend "to "create a race of idlers, misers and "cowards." We cannot refrain from printing in full two or three other choice sentences:

"The Vanderbilts, with tens of millions of Unit"ed States bonds, spending the interest in Europe, "and the tens of thousands of lesser bondholders, "who produce nothing and do nothing except clip "coupons,—what are they to this country and its "industries but a class of gilded paupers support"ed by the labor of this country?"

"We have in this country 5000 persons who own "and possess 5050 millions of property, mostly ac"cumulated within the last fifteen years, and "that, too, through unequal laws. Twenty years "ago a millionaire in this country was as rare as a "prince, and so was a tramp."

"Continue for another half century the present "power of corporations to tax the public, and we "shall have a moneyed aristocracy in this country "such as the world has never seen, and with all "the attendant phenomena of venial legislators "and corruption in high places which has caused "the downfall of all republics in history."

"Universal suffrage and great landed estates "cannot long exist together, for either the owners "of the estates must restrict the right of suffrage, "or that right of suffrage will in the end divide "their estates."

If these words were put into good French they would read like extracts from the speeches of Blanqui, Rochefort and Louise Michel. Communism and agrarianism more open and undisguised was never uttered.

UNITED STATES PENSIONERS.

We publish on the first page to-day the report of an interview with the U. S. Commissioner of Pensions which will be found of great interest to all United States Pensioners.

THE BEST JOKE OF THE SEASON. We have received a copy of the London Court Journal, of Jan. 1, containing a letter from Victoria C. Woodhull (as she now spells her name), in which that somewhat notorious female declares that her name "has been most unrighteously associated with what is known by the name of Free Love," and she asserts that "no viler aspersion was ever uttered." That will astonish the readers of Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly and the attendants at Victoria's lectures. She declares that the Free Love articles were smuggled into her paper while she was away lecturing, and proceeds to say "I now openly avow, with all the earnestness of righteous indignation, that during no part of my life did I favor Free Love, even tacitly." That she should be able to ventilate this remarkable effrontery in the Court Journal is one of the curiosities of London life.

Here's richness! Congressman George W. Ladd, late Greenbacker, writes to the Commercial thusly concerning that "gilded pauper," "gold bug" and "money bloat," Fernando Wood:

"I send you a very fine speech made opportunely in the House to-day by one of the first gentlemen of this generation, the HON FERNANDO WOOD."

It is said that Whitelaw Reid is now the controlling proprietor as well as editor of the Tribune.—Boston Herald.

We hope that is true, for Mr. Reid has made the Tribune the best daily journal in the world.

The old Family Physician at Fault—Dr. David Kennedy the Successful Surgeon.

Money is the universal necessity, and none but a cynic or a fool will affect to despise it. Mr. Abram Elsworth, of Port Ewen, Ulster county, N. Y., had realized this truth. His disease involved the whole of his thigh-bone, and the suffering man looked forward, not without apparent reason, to death as his only deliverer. His family physician refused to amputate the limb—asserting that the operation would kill the patient on the spot. Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who was consulted, held a different opinion and amputated the limb. The Doctor then administered freely his great Blood-Specific FAVORITE REMEDY to afford tone and strength to the system, prevent the return of the disease, and Mr. Elsworth remains to this day in the bloom of health. This gentleman's disease was the offspring of foul blood, and Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY purified the blood and restored to him the power once more to enjoy his life. Are you suffering from any disease traceable to the same cause? Try Favorite Remedy. Your druggist has it. ONE DOLLAR a Bottle. Bear in mind the proprietor's name and address: Dr. David KENNEDY, Rondout, New York. jan6 d&wlm

DR. CHAS. CORNBLOOM,

Of BOSTON, Mass., Room 8, Herald Building, will be at the

BANGOR HOUSE ON THE 20TH OF JANUARY,

For SEVEN DAYS, for the Treatment and Cure of CATARRH, DIPHTHERIA, DEAFNESS, THROAT and LUNG DISEASES.

A New Triumph of Science! By Ozone Inhalation!

There is one thing among the latest discoveries in the Healing Art, that has created so much interest in the scientific world, or promises so much to relieve the suffering of humanity, as OZONE INHALATIONS. I have demonstrated this by my practice in Boston and Lynn, to the abundant delight and relief of many sufferers. The painful fact is everywhere apparent that Catarrh, Bronchitis, and Consumption, with other dreaded diseases, are frightfully on the increase, while the administration of medicines has been comparatively powerless to combat with its fatal progress. OZONE INHALATION has no equal where the east winds prevail, and the climate is changable. It will Prevent and Cure Catarrh, Headache, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Diphtheria, and all diseases of the throat and lungs.

DIPHTHERIA.

I would call attention to the wonderful cures performed in that dread disease, which cannot prevail where these inhalations are used, as they immediately destroy the germ of the disease.

TESTIMONIALS.

I desire to refer to the following well-known persons who have been cured of Catarrh:

H. B. Allen, of the N. E. Trust Company.
L. W. Burlen, of the Columbian National Bank.
Henry L. Jewett, of the International Trust Company.
Mr. Giddings, of the firm of Tower, Giddings & Co.
Steinberger Brothers, Devonshire Street.
Mr. Ewell, of the Revere Bank.
G. O. Sanborne, of the Beef Packing Company, 187 Congress St.
S. F. Barker, Supt. of the Emery Cloth and Paper Mystic Manufacturing Company.
Solomon Hancock, Successor to Wm. P. & Geo. Draper, No. 76 State Street.
W. W. Kimball, of the Fourth National Bank.
Mr. Duffield, of the North American Bank.
R. C. Daniel, President of the State Nat'l Bank, Memphis, Tenn.
The Right Honorable Sir H. Barckley, K. C. B.
The Right Honorable Sir Charles Hotham, K. C. B.
The Right Honorable Sir John Thomas Smith, K. C. B.

465 WASHINGTON ST., BOSTON, Sept. 20, 1879.

DR. CORNBLOOM:—Dear Sir: Allow me to express my gratitude to you for having so speedily and effectually cured me of that much to be dreaded disease, Catarrh.

I was troubled with it for many years, and had consulted many physicians, and tried almost all well-known patent remedies, such as seen advertised, but not the slightest benefit did I receive till I called upon you, from which time, thank God, I began steadily to improve, and am now as well as ever I was in my life. I believe the cure is permanent, as I have had several bad colds since without any return of the catarrh.

M. W. OVERTON.

LYNN, March 10, 1879.

This certifies that I have used Dr. Charles Cornbloom's Ozone Inhalation for my Catarrh and deafness, and have been cured in three months.

T. A. PEDRICK.

LYNN, Nov. 11, 1879.

I have used Dr. Cornbloom's Ozone Inhalation for Catarrh, and it has cured me, and am satisfied it is the best thing that a person can use. I would recommend all persons suffering with Catarrh to use it.

NATHAN BROWN,
Clerk at Charles Buffom & Co's.

105 COMMERCIAL ST. BOSTON, MASS., Jan. 21, 1878.

I, Z. K. Doane, do hereby certify that I have used Dr. Charles Cornbloom's Catarrh Remedy with entire satisfaction, and anyone suffering with this disease I would advise them to try it.

Z. K. DOANE.

BOSTON, June 4, 1880.

I do hereby certify that I have used Dr. Charles Cornbloom's Ozone Inhaler for the cure of my Catarrh, and can say that it has cured me in three months.

Yours Respectfully,
GEORGE C. MAYNARD.
With W. Quirin & Co., 155 Summer St.

DR. CHAS. CORNBLOOM can be consulted either personally or by letter at his office from 9 A. M. to 9 P. M. 257 Washington Street, Herald Building, Room No. 8, Boston, Mass.

PORTLAND, Jan. 18. The trial of John G. Farr for the murder of his wife, Eliza, opened in the Superior Court this forenoon, Attorney-General Cleaves and County Attorney Coombs appearing for the State; H. G. Sleeper and Elliot King for the defence. Farr looked calm and self possessed.

County Attorney Coombs in his opening claimed that the prosecution would show a deliberate intent.

David Collamore testified that Farr called at his house previous to the murder, and threatened that if his wife proved false he would shoot her if he had to swing for it.

Julia A. Roberts, who kept the boarding house where the murder was done, testified to Farr's asking for his wife, following her up stairs and attempting to push the door of the room open, crying that he'd got her now. Mrs. Farr held the door for an instant then allowing it to open, slipped under his arm and ran down stairs, Farr drawing a pistol and firing at her four times. Witness heard her groan after the second shot; witness went down to her own bedroom door, Farr following her and when she got there Mrs. Farr was dead. Farr asked why she did not send for a policeman; also that his wife had deceived and lied to him. She had promised to meet him but failed. He then said: "I've done what I came for and now I am willing to suffer." On cross examination Mrs. Roberts said she did not know that Mrs. Farr had a husband living; thought she was a widow. There was a man in the room with her at the time of the murder named Hurd who had been going with her some time. Both sat by the window on chairs, when Mrs. Roberts called. Mrs. Farr came without delay.

Fannie Stewart testified to the same and said that Geo. H. Roberts came in after the murder, when Farr told him what he had done, and kneeling talked to the corpse, telling it that if she had been true this would not have occurred. When the officers came he gave himself up readily; kissed the body and suffered himself to be led away. The officers testified to the arrest.

Dr. C. W. Bray testified: I found the woman dead with one wound over the eye, one near the nostril and another in the cheek. Either the first or the last wound produce death. Farr said he wished he was in his wife's place.

The prisoner was put upon the stand and testified at length, telling the story of the shooting substantially as it was published at the time. He did not deny committing the deed, but said he was barely conscious of what he was doing. His counsel indicated in his opening that they would endeavor to prove that he was not of a sound mind and that at the most it was manslaughter.

IRELAND.

A HEATED DEBATE IN PARLIAMENT.

Parnell Charges Gladstone With Misrepresenting the Irish Members.

LONDON, Jan. 18. The Parnell party came into open collision with the Government last night in the heated debate on Justin McCarthy's amendment to the address, praying the Queen not to use the army or constabulary to carry out evictions pending the reform of the land laws.

Gladstone reappeared, looking much improved. He replied to McCarthy in a bitter speech, accusing the Irish members of delaying remedial measures.

Parnell answered later in the debate, charging Gladstone with misrepresenting the Irish members. He stated that he believed the Irish people will justify the shedding of their blood to secure their liberty if they saw a chance of success. He denied having encouraged army insurrection because he knew England was too strong. He stated his belief that legislative independence would follow the downfall of landlordism, and that under new relations the hostility between England and Ireland would disappear. The government could not suppress the Land League because if its leaders should be imprisoned the people would organize secret societies. Murder and outrage would be increased ten fold by coercion. If the habeas corpus was suspended the arrest of the first man would be the signal for a general refusal to pay rents. The government would be met with the passive resistance of the entire nation.

Northcote called on the Government to take action on the "serious speech" of Parnell, whom he accused of dictating to the Queen as an equal. Great excitement was manifested by members during the debate. O'Donnel made a fierce attack on the Gladstone ministry amid constant interruption. An Irish member moved an adjournment after midnight.

Lord Hartington refused to accede on the ground that the debate had been sufficiently prolonged.

The Irish members charged the Government with attempting to gag them. Parnell stated that the conduct of Hartington showed that the aristocratic element had obtained the upper hand in the cabinet, and that the policy of coercion was fittingly represented by Lord Hartington who, as Irish Secretary, caused the people of Dublin to be bludgeoned by the police.

After the first division the Government agreed to adjourn the debate.

Forty members voted with Parnell, all Irish.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS—Third Session.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.

Mr. McPherson from the Committee on Naval Affairs reported favorably on the Senate bill to establish and equalize grades and regulate the appointments and promotions in the marine corps.

Mr. Vest moved to refer to the Committee on Foreign Affairs the bill on the calendar to incorporate the Inter Oceanic Transit Co., and for other purposes.

Mr. Edmunds suggested that as the bill on the subject had been referred to the Committee on Commerce some reference should be made.

Mr. Vest stated that the bill on the calendar was Eads' ship railway project, on which it was desirable if possible to have a decision at the present session and the Commerce Committee were now crowded with business. Mr. Vest's motion was agreed to.

The bill of last year to provide for ascertaining and settling private land claims in certain States and Territories occupied the remainder of the morning hour without action.

The Ben Halliday bill then came up in regular order.

Mr. Cameron favored the claim.

The Holladay bill was amended making $100,000 the full payment and was passed. The claim was originally for half a million.

A conference was ordered on the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation Bill and after some routine debate adjourned.

House.

Mr. Keifer from the Committee on Elections, submitted the unanimous report of that committee declaring H. Bisbee, Jr., is and N. A. Hall is not entitled to a seat from the Second Congressional District of Florida. It was laid on the table, and Mr. Keifer gave notice that he should call it up every day.

Mr. Sparks, chairman of Committee on Military Affairs, reported back adversely on the bill to place U. S. Grant on the retired list of the army. Mr. McCook submitted a minority report, which, with the bill, was referred to a committee of the whole on private calendar.

The House went into a committee of the whole upon the Funding Bill debate on the pending section and amendment thereto being limited to one hour and ten minutes, debate to be allowed hereafter on every substantive amendment offered. Pending the amendment that was offered by Carlisle as a substitute for the 5th section, Mr. Wood claimed there was a possibility of negotiating 3 per cent. bonds at par.

After various substitutes and amendments were discussed and rejected the Funding bill was agreed to and reported to the House. The bill provides for the issue of $400,000,000 bonds at 3 per cent redeemable at pleasure of the United States after five years and payable ten years from date of issue; and also certificates to the amount of $300,000,000 in $10s, $20s and $50s, registered or coupon at 3 per cent. redeemable at pleasure of U. S., after one year and payable in ten years.

BURNING OIL.

Explosion at the Atlantic Refinery.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 18. About two this morning one of the tanks of the Atlantic Oil Refinery, Point Breeze, exploded and the burning oil scattered in every direction. The concussion broke windows a mile distant. The flames spread rapidly to the adjoining tanks, the wharf and shipping. Four tanks were soon on fire and a number of vessels aground in the Schuylkill were ablaze. They could not be hauled off. A despatch from the vicinity at 9.15 says the entire place is on fire.

Later.

The report that the shipping was on fire was premature. It is now stated that all the vessels are intact, but the wharves are all in flames. The employes were compelled to leave the offices. The fire is now under control. As the vessels were removed from danger the flames were confined chiefly to the warehouses and wharves. There were stored in the warehouses eleven thousand cases of oil. The Standard Oil Co. insures its own property from its reserve fund.

The road beds of all the railroads are frozen solid, and this, with frosty rails, makes railroading especially dangerous. The engineers have difficulty in making time, as none of them care to run any faster than required by the time table.

Capt. Barbour has received an order to build a new steamer for private parties, to be used in the sardine business at Lamoine. She will be about the same size as the little steamer that he is now building. He will commence work at once and have the boat ready to launch as soon as the ice goes out.

THE GROCERS are now talking of a grand sociable and supper at some date near at hand. As they are now closing their stores at seven o'clock and are unaccustomed to have the time on their hands, they feel it will be a pleasure to come together and get better acquainted. The idea is a happy one and will doubtless call forth every member of the trade.

ANOTHER TEMPERANCE SERMON. During the recent cold snap, a Togus soldier slept off the effects of a drunken debauch in a barn near the Home. In the morning he tottered to his quarters, when it was found that his hands and feet were severely frozen. Monday a physician visited the Home and amputated one-half of one foot, and two toes on the other; three fingers of the right hand, and two of the left. It was impossible to save them, as they had already begun to putrify.

PRICES ON THE MARKET. Considering the excellent condition of the roads very few farmers have come to market the past few days, and matters have been quiet on Pickering square. Yesterday prices ranged about as follows: Hay $15 to $17, a fall from $21; butter 20 to 25 cents, and extra lots 28 cents; eggs from 25 to 26 cents, which is quite a decrease from former prices: poultry is rather scarce chickens selling from 12 to 14 cents; turkeys from 14 to 18 cents.

THE FIRST ASSEMBLY in the series under the auspices of the Ladies' Relief Corps, occurred at Unity Hall last evening. A small, but very pleasant party was in attendance and all enjoyed the dance thoroughly. Files' Orchestra furnished excellent music for the occasion. At intermission choice refreshments of coffee and cake were served to the entire company free of charge. The course has opened very auspiciously and bids fair to be one of the pleasantest of the season.

Messrs. Mason & Reynolds, Bond and Stock Brokers, announce in their advertisement to-day that they have arranged to have the quotations of all the leading New York stocks telegraphed them several times during the day, which will be bulletined at their office, thus affording dealers in these stocks the same advantages they would have in Boston. In connection therewith they will execute orders on commission on both the Boston and New York Boards. This enterprise will doubtless be appreciated by many investors.

JOB PRINTING. An advertisement elsewhere announces the dissolution of the firm of Burr & Robinson, and that the Book and Job Printing business of that establishment will be carried on by Benjamin A. Burr, Esq., with improved facilities at the old stand. Mr. Burr is too well known in the printing business to need any recommendation to patrons in Bangor or Eastern Maine, and he will seek to serve the public as satisfactorily as he has for so many years. Having secured the services of a competent foreman the establishment is prepared to execute orders for all sorts of job printing in the best style.

THE DIVORCE LAWS OF MAINE. The Congregational State Conference last summer, adopted a resolution calling attention to the looseness of our divorce laws, and the alarming increase of divorces in Maine, and appointing a committee to take the subject into consideration. Subsequently the Cumberland Congregational Ministerial Association appointed a committee consisting of Rev. Messrs. Dickerman of Lewiston, Hincks of Portland and Torrey of Yarmouth to prepare a memorial to the Legislature and distribute it for signatures. The memorial is being largely signed, and will be presented at an early day to the Legislature.

QUARTER OF A CENTURY. A correspondent writes: The friends of Mr. and Mrs. Shebna Harriman met at their house in Orrington, last Saturday evening, to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The meeting of their friends was a perfect surprise to them, but they all were no less kindly welcomed. The presents were appropriate to the occasion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Morelan, of Orrington, in a very pleasing manner. A bountiful collation was provided which all seemed to appreciate and a very pleasant evening was enjoyed by all.

COTTON MILLS. The cotton mills of this country give employment directly to 181,628 persons, employ 230,223 looms and nearly eleven million spindles. Lewiston has about 300,000 spindles, or about one thirty-sixth of the spindles in the United States. Within ten years Lewiston will probably increase her spindles to 400,000. There are in Maine 696,685 spindles, nearly half of which are in Lewiston. Maine uses 112,361 bales of cotton per year, and employs 11,318 persons in the manufacture of cotton goods. There are 1,586,481 bales of cotton made into fabrics in this country by the cotton mills—not to mention what is used by the woolen mills!

THE INSANE HOSPITAL WATER SUPPLY. The short supply at the hospital during the drouth last summer caused very general anxiety in regard to this matter among the people; but the Trustees in their report appear to remove all doubts as to the adequacy of the supply in the future. They state that the storage capacity of the reservoirs has been increased to five million gallons, which at 20,000 gallons a day, or forty gallons each for all the persons supplied, would last for the period of eight months, or from April, when all the reservoirs are always full, to the following January. Unless there is some mistake in this calculation (and there ought to be none, for with accurate measurements it is very simple) the water supply at the hospital in the future will be ample.

AN AROUSED COMMUNITY. The Portland Argus says: "A gentleman who was at Gray Monday says no little excitement still prevails there in regard to the mad dog exploits. It seems a man named Frank Hall, who lives about a mile from Gray village owned a shepherd dog that went mad and bit a heifer belonging to Mr. Hall. The heifer died with hydrophobia, and Hall moved the carcass a short distance from his house and then left it, either entirely above ground or very imperfectly buried. The village dogs soon scented the carcass and have eaten of the infected body. The dog whose mad career we related yesterday was a large Newfoundland, and valued highly by its owner. All the dogs in the village are being killed by the people, on sight, as the citizens go armed with big clubs and when they see a dog's head they go for it. It is said a man in Pownal is now sick with hydrophobia."

OBITUARY. Rev. James Murphy, who died at Lawrence, on the feast of the Epiphany, rode to Andover, contracting thereby a severe cold, but was not confined to his bed until Saturday. Rev. Father Duncan of St. Mary's church, Boston, heard his confession on Saturday afternoon, and the last rites of the church were administered him Sunday forenoon by Rev. C. J. Sheedy. He died in the full possession of his senses. The deceased was born in Waterford, about sixty years ago, and was ordained as priest, at Quebec twenty-two years ago. After his ordination he was assistant pastor over the churches at Bangor, Nashua, N. H., St. Stephen's church, Boston, and went to Lawrence thirteen years ago, as assistant pastor of the Immaculate Conception church. Eight years ago he took charge of the parishes of South Lawrence and North Andover. He was of a retiring disposition, charitable and generous. His sudden death is a severe loss to the parishes under his charge.

THE TOURISTS. Messrs. Smith and Mestayer's celebrated musical and comedy party in their laughable absurdity of "The Tourists in a Pullman Palace Car" will appear for the first time in this city at Norombega Hall, Tuesday evening, 25th inst. This talented organization has become well and favorably know throughout the United States, and in all of our large cities has played engagements of such long duration, as to thoroughly test its attractiveness. They have just closed their third engagement in Boston, making a grand total of eighty-three performances in that city, with crowded houses to the last. The entire action of the piece is in the interior of a Pullman car and is filled with laughable pranks and ludicrous accidents happening to a party of travelers in the car. The beautiful representation of a car, which the company bring with them, was made especially for them, and is exceedingly realistic. Those who desire a really jolly evening should not fail to be present on this occasion. The sale of reserved seats will commence at Bugbee's on Friday morning.

MARRIAGES IN BANGOR IN 1880. Cupid and Hymen have been rather busy in Bangor during the past year, according to the City Clerk's records: it may be interesting to our readers, and to the marriageable portion especially, for us to print an account of their work. We find in the record of "marriage intentions," 173 intentions filed during the year 1880, and, if no harsh worldly circumstance interfered, and all of the intentions were consummated at the marriage altar, 346 hearts were made to beat as one, so to speak. We do not know whether in our city the number of marriage intentions is on the increase or otherwise, but we do know that a smaller number are filed here than in Lewiston, a city of about the same size. The number of intentions registered in Bangor each month of the past year was as follows: January, 19; February, 5; March, 10; April, 13; May, 14; June, 12; July, 13; August, 22; September, 14; October, 14; November, 19; December, 18. These figures are strangely contradictory of Nature, the largest number of intentions being filed during the sweltering heat of August, while in June, the month of leaves and flowers, the god Hymen only succeeded in hunting up twelve couples.—Commercial.

BANGOR MUTUAL.

Annual Meeting—Resolutions Passed.

The members of the Bangor Mutual Fire Insurance Company held their annual meeting yesterday and elected the following Directors: George Stetson, Charles Hayward, Arad Thompson, F. M. Sabine, T. G. Stickney, S. D. Thurston, C. P. Stetson, Willard Cutter, Henry A. Wood, L. A. Bowler. F. M. Sabine was elected President and Treasurer and J. W. McClure Secretary.

The following resolutions were offered by the President and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That by the death of Wm. C. Crosby, Esq., since our last annual meeting, this company has lost one of its most useful Directors.

Resolved, That by his efficient services in the accomplishment of its permanent organization, by his almost invariable presence at its stated and special meetings, and by his unfailing interest and faith in its success, he deserves our grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That, as a testimonial of our sense of loss by the inevitable event that has taken him from us, and of our appreciation also of his moral worth, we order that a copy of these resolutions be furnished for publication and that one be sent to each member of his family wherever residing.

"THERE'S PAPA"

An Embezzler Detected by His Little Child.

B. Doyle Bryant, the manager of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Macine Company's Albany office, who was arrested in Jersey City a few evenings ago, is charged with having embezzled $3,000 of his employer's money. He fled from Albany, but the officers could obtain no clue to his whereabouts, until his wife and two children started for New York. An officer took the same train and never lost sight of her. She went to Jersey City and walked up an avenue, passing a solitary stranger, who was lounging near the Erie depot. Presently she retraced her steps and returned to the depot, the detective still following her. The stranger, whom she had passed on the street, strolled through the depot, and went by the little family group without her recognition. Mrs. Bryant's little daughter, sitting on her knee, knew him at once, however. "Why," she exclaimed, "there's papa." "Don't," said the mother; "keep still, for God's sake." But that is papa," persisted the little one, as she leaped from her seat and ran to the stranger. He said that he did not know her, but the detective, who had witnessed the scene, knew that he had found Bryant, and took him into custody.

FIRST PARISH CHURCH MEETING.

Sweeping Temperance Resolutions Discussed—A Strong Opposition to their Spirit Developed—Adoption by a Divided Vote.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

At a meeting of the First Congregational Church of this city, held on January 1st, the following resolutions were presented by the Temperance Committee of the church, of which the Rev. Mr. Speare is a member:

"As members of a Christian church, concerned for the safety of the rising generation, anxious for the peace and purity of our city, and for the present and eternal welfare of our own number, we wish to give deliberate and emphatic expression to our convictions as follows, viz:

1. The Church of Christ should be foremost in vigorous and practical support of good morals and genuine reforms. The stream cannot rise higher than its sources; the virtues and sentiments of every community depend upon the life of the church as a fountain and guide. History plainly teaches that the errors and vices of society can be eradicated only by the unsparing surgery of religious principle and fearless conscience.

The light of experience plainly reveals the course of successful self-defence, and of solemn duty to others; public vice and crime must be publicly reprobated and restrained by the combined forces of law, of public sentiment, of free discussion and open condemnation.

3. We therefore pledge ourselves to earnest prayer and work, that the present growing tide of intemperance in our city may be checked and, so far as possible, removed.

4. We call upon the officers of the law, in every capacity, to give us full and faithful protection by all the means known to the administration of justice; and we solemnly protest against that interpretation of official duty which takes no notice of open and notorious crime, unless private citizens first take the field as prosecutors.

5. We appeal to the able editors of our press, with the earnest request that they will use their editorial columns in defence of law and in opposition to the present unblushing sale of alcoholic mixtures, contrary to express statutes long honored and useful.

6. We believe that growing dangers demand of all Christians the most emphatic reassertion that, in the light of God's word and the experience of all time, intemperance is a sin bringing unspeakable guilt upon all who aid and abet it in any way.

7. We spread these sentiments upon our Church records as permanent expression of our solemn convictions.

They were laid upon the table for consideration and at an adjourned meeting another set was presented, strongly favoring temperance and advocating action of the church for its promotion, but free from the clauses condemning official interpretation of law, as a substitute for the other set. Action on the resolutions was delayed until last Monday evening, when a fully attended meeting of the church was held, at which there was an earnest discussion. When they were taken from the table a member of the temperance committee made a motion to amend the substitute by inserting in it the four most objectionable resolutions of the committee. This action of the committee called forth a spirited protest from Mr. J. W. Milliken. He called the action of the committee unfair in thus attempting to prevent those who were in favor of the substitute from having an opportunity to vote for the substitute without the amendment. He also said that it was not proper for a church to criticise the action of public officers, especially when those officers were acting under the interpretation of the law by the proper officers.

W. P. Hubbard, Esq., spoke strongly against the resolutions of the committee and in favor of the substitute. John F. Colby, Esq., also expressed himself as against the resolutions of the committee, and he thought the evidence of division should stop all action.

Rev. Mr. Speare made quite an extended argument in defence of the resolutions of his committee, citing numberless authorities that intemperance was an evil, and read from an opinion by a lawyer of this city to prove that the interpretation of the law by City Solicitor Vose and other authorities of the State was wrong. He declared that some secret central power was dictating to all the law officers as to what should be their official action. He closed with an appeal for all to vote for his resolutions if they desired to preserve the purity of their children.

Mr. John F. Colby earnestly objected to the implied statement of the pastor, that those who were opposed to his resolutions were not anxious for their children's welfare, and declared that this action would make the church the laughing-stock of the community, and that it was spreading the pastor's opinions on the record, not those of the church.

B. B. Thatcher, Esq., opposed the resolutions of the committee, and in the course of his remarks he denounced as calumny certain statements against the Hon. Eugene Hale, which Rev. Mr. Speare had given currency to at a recent meeting in this city. Mr. Thatcher moved that the whole matter be indefinitely postponed.

Dr. P. T. Huckins favored indefinite postponement for the good of the church, and strongly appealed to the church to prevent the apparent division from increasing.

Mr. A. E. Gilman, was in favor of the substitute, but thought it would be better for the church to indefinitely postpone all the resolutions.

Prof. John S. Sewall, regretted that he must differ from the pastor, but he did not think that the resolutions in relation to public officers were wise or within the proper sphere of a church. He said that he could vote for the substitute, but thought it would be better for the church to indefinitely postpone them all.

A vote was then taken on the motion to indefinitely postpone and the motion was lost by a vote of 19 for to 30 against.

Mr. J. W. Milliken then remarked that the opposition ought also to take advantage of parliamentary tactics as the committee had, and moved to indefinitely postpone the amendment.

Mr. Hubbard made an appeal for fair play and urged the committee to allow a fair vote on the substitute. The committee finally yielded and a vote was then taken on the motion to substitute the second set of resolutions for the first, and the following persons voted yea: Prof. John S. Sewall, Dea. A. Titcomb, Dea. W. P. Hubbard, John F. Colby, Esq., B. B. Thatcher, Esq., J. W. Milliken, Esq., N. P. Doe, Esq., Dr. P. T. Huckins, A. E. Gilman, Esq., H. W. Blood, Esq., Mrs. Ames, Mrs. Huckins, Miss Morse, Mrs. Milliken, Mrs. Pierce, Miss Spratt, Mrs. Colby, and Mrs. Hubbard—eighteen in all.

The following persons voted against the substitute:

J. M. Dickey, Esq., Dea. J. S. Ellis, John S. Kimball, Esq., Fred Dickey, Esq., A. J. Mann, Esq., F. K. Smith, Esq., Dr. I. M. Case, two boys and seventeen ladies, making twenty-six votes in all.

The original resolutions were then declared adopted by a vote of 28 to 14, several of the opponents having left the room.

It is known that four of the six Deacons of the Church are opposed to the adoption of the resolutions, and it is reported that five are.

ROMANCE OF CASTINE.

The following was written by Miss Annie S. Devereux, of Castine, as an essay at the close of school, 1870:

It is a beautiful summer evening in the year 1666, in the forest primeval of Acadia, upon the eastern banks of the Penobscot. The sun is growing large in the west. Above, there are golden-tipped clouds,—below, the deep, yet calm, unruffled ocean.

The place is picturesquely beautiful in situation, and the whole peninsula, (we might almost say, wilderness) is covered with trees, excepting where small clearings have been made here and there, for erecting huts for the natives.

On the southern shores of the peninsula, all Nature is at rest, when suddenly, echoes from a distance are heard, and presently, a young girl with her dark tresses streaming in the wind, darts through an opening in the woods, and her slight form, clearly-defined against the blue sky, stands for a moment upon a cliff, overhanging a frightful precipice. Then, drawn by the fascination of the water, with light footsteps, she descends to a large flat rock below.

And now, a vessel glides slowly over the calm waters of the bay, drops her anchor, and furls her snowy sails. A boat is pushed off from her side, a manly form springs into it, and steers for the spot where the dark-eyed maiden is resting. Thus, meet for the first time, Baron Vincent de St. Castin, and the daughter of the Indian chief Modockawando, his future bride.

The town of Castine is named for this renowned Baron. From accounts which have been preserved of this place, we know something of his history.

He was born in Oleron, France, where he had immense estates. In the year 1666, there was an appointment of a governor of New France, (in which the town of Castine was included,) and a regiment of soldiers came over with him. Baron de Castine was an officer in the regiment, and consequently came over at the same time. Naturally of a very romantic turn of mind, and charmed with the wild and beautiful scenery, he was induced to take up his permanent abode in Acadia. He was influenced still more by his desire to Christianize the native Indians. Selecting the peninsula for his abode, he commenced his efforts to benefit them.

But he could not forget the image of the dark-eyed maiden whom he beheld first on landing, and, becoming very intimate with Modockawando, the chief of the Tarrentine tribe, he was attracted more and more to the daughter. She was no darker than a great many of our own race, her form was peculiarly graceful, her eyes very bright, sparkling like gems. And in this rich casket, her mind was a jewel not unworthy of its setting.

The Baron's house was rather a grotesque looking building, built partly of wood and partly of stone. The windows were small and high. Outside the building were trellises with wild vines twining around them, and a garden laid out in a style which would do no dishonor to many a modern florist. To this picturesque home, the Baron soon brought his Indian bride.

But, though delighted with a life among the rocky caverns, and by the deep-toned neighboring ocean, yet, accustomed as he was, to the habits of civilized society, he could not permit in his family the rude mode of savage life.

We know something of his manner of living, from facts given us by a visitor at his home a few years after his marriage.

The Baron, although evincing so strong an attachment for the sweets of natural liberty that he was willing to quit the refinements and delicacies of the first courts of Europe for their enjoyment, appears not to have lost any of his love for a refined mode of living, and his wife, contrary to the natural tastes of her race, was only too happy to conform to the wishes of one whom she loved so deeply.

Gaspar tells us that he, in company with a number of others, was commissioned to visit Baron Castin for counsel in a forthcoming conflict, and from him we learn some facts with regard to the lady's personal appearance. He tells us that she was the most beautiful female he had ever seen. Her form was symmetry itself, and her features exquisite. Her face was full of expression, seeming to read the soul at once. Her dress was a singular mixture of Indian and European fashion. When they entered the room, she was sitting upon the floor with her children, watching over them with a mother's tenderest care. She wore a close-fitting dress of blue satin, the waist of which was laced with gold cord, and richly ornamented with borders of the same. A mantle of peach-colored silk, thrown over her shoulders, fell in graceful folds around her. Her raven locks were braided, and twisted around her head, with strings of pearl and gold beads intertwining, and confined with a broach of pearl and gold. She had earrings of the same, and bracelets adorned her arms, which were bare nearly to the shoulders. Her slender feet, encased in sandals, snugly-fitting and laced with blue ribbons, were peeping out from beneath her dress. Two little children, girls, were twining their arms around her neck, as they entered. The other child, a son, we shall have occasion to notice hereafter.

But let us leave the wife of the Baron, his first and only wife, and return to the Baron himself.

We see him again, as with his sad, careworn countenance, and his majestic bearing, he stands the centre of a band of dusky chiefs, whose stern features relax their sternness in deference to their loved and respected leader.

We see him bowing reverently in his chapel, where two or three priests officiated, or, anon, bending at the altar in his own house.

Now, he is majestically pacing the ramparts of the fort which he erected on the south east coast of the peninsula, and whose outline is still visible. He surrounded it with a palisade, and had a retinue of about thirty persons besides the Indians.

Again, he is in his own home, warm and cordial, perhaps, in his library, instructing his only son in Greek and Latin, in which he was well versed.

Let us pass over a few years, until these children have grown into manhood, and womanhood. There is no record of the two daughters, save that they were married to French gentlemen of wealth. But, of the son there is one incident, which, perhaps, may be interesting.

He has now reached the prime of manhood, noble and majestic in bearing like his father, and inheriting all his manly qualities. He was brave in war, and daring in bold adventure, at one time, saving Winona, an Indian girl, from a watery grave. From this moment, of course, the maiden's thoughts and hopes centered in him. Still she bore in silence her grief in knowing that her love was not returned.

But the Baron's estates in France demanded attention and Castin, the younger, is about to sail for Europe, where he intends to spend his life in the enjoyment of the princely fortune awaiting him.

On the evening of his departure, crowds of Indians are upon the shore and rocky cliffs to bid him God speed,—among them, Winona, her fragile form erect and beautiful, her dark hair streaming in the wind, and her proud, passionate eyes gazing seaward. As his hand presses hers at the last, lingering farewell, there is an undefined feeling of sadness in his heart, but who can tell what Winona is suffering? The cheery voices of her friends sound to her like mockings. She stands, never heeding the tumult and stirs around her, but brave in her passionate grief, strong in her terrible composure, she gazes ever on the wild, relentless sea.

Soon the sails are set, and the vessel proudly sweeps the ocean. Winona stands upon the rock, since known as Winona's rock, and watches the vessel till it becomes lost to view,—then, in the depths of despair, she hurls herself from the cliff, down, down into the fearful chasm below. And now, so many years after, as we stand upon this precipice, and remember the breathings of tradition, we think sadly of her, who, in deepest gloom, departed "to the portals of the sunset."

"Still stands the forest primeval, but under the shade of its branches Dwells another race, with other customs and language."

While now we roam these historic grounds, we love to live over in memory the traditions of the native people of our dearly loved home.

"And the fisher in his skiff,
And the hunter on the moss,
Hear their call from cape and cliff,
See their hands the birch leaves toss."

Soon we, like them, shall be gone, and our names will only be known through the breathings of tradition. Ere long we shall meet them

"In the Islands of the blessed,
In the kingdom of Ponemah,
In the land of the hereafter."

AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

Do not neglect to give your hens hot feed, at least once a day through the winter. Early spring pullets will be certain to lay at this season of the year if so treated.

The time to thoroughly repair all tools, plows, reaping machines, cultivators and the like is the winter. Time taken for this now is not lost to more important business, as is the case in the press of spring and summer work.

It is said that if sod land is plowed just before the corn is planted, the worms will feed upon the sod and not injure the corn.

The annual productions from eight articles alone—wheat, corn, oats, potatoes, rye, beef, cotton, tobacco—would be sufficient to pay off the national debt. This would leave us milk, butter, cheese and pork, of which the value would not be less than $300,000,000.

The farmer who has a neat and well-kept garden is almost sure to have a neat and well-kept farm, a comfortable and well-appointed home, tidy out-buildings and stock in good condition; and the housewife who takes pride in her garden generally has a home to take pride in and to be proud of.

Ten millions of cattle are annually slaughtered in this country to supply the home demand for meat, which is valued at $400,000,000. The home market it seems is of far more importance than the foreign demand, although the latter is not without great value and extent, as it takes that which the home trade does not require.

In midwinter, when the weather is cold, corn is the best feed for promoting plumpness and warmth in horses. Oats constitute the best muscle-producing food, so that when very hard work is required of the animal a part of the feed should be oats.

Collections are made morning and evening in season for important mails.

Holidays the Carrier's Window will be open for the delivery of letters from 8½ to 9½ A. M., and from 7½ to 8½ P. M. Sundays from 8½ to 9½ A. M.
